

Stop writing new. Let Spring hand it over.

DI

- 1 Your class declares what it needs: a ``UserRepository``.
- 2 Spring finds one, builds it, and passes it in.
- 3 Your class never knows which implementation it got. That is the point.

REMEMBER THIS

Testing gets easy, because you can hand it a fake instead.